Hello,

It's Wednesday, and the sun is shining this gorgeous spring day. I hope your week is off to a magnificent start.

Thank you to everyone who has become a member. We really appreciate it! Your voice and your contributions are more valuable than ever. We are a nonprofit now, so it's just us working together to find solutions to the problems in our community. If you haven't already, please get involved now. It's only $5 a month, your contributions (all of which go to paying our writers) are tax deductible, and you'll get special extras each Monday available to members only.

After you've become a member, head on over the the NUVO store and get yourself some sweet gear. You'll be supporting local journalism and looking fresh all at the same time. My wife, Ash, just received her House of Burgess shirt last week, and she loves it so much we just ordered a hat, shirts for our two kids and myself, another shirt for her, and a hat. I even bought a House of Burgess shirt for my dad's birthday on Monday. Get yours now!

We've been getting some great feedback on our stories on Facebook and Twitter. I appreciate this engagement so much. Can I ask a favor of you, though? If you have something to say about a question we pose or an article we write, will you leave your comment on the story itself and not on social media? We're trying to move the conversation to nuvo.net, and we need your help in this. If you comment on our site, we'll be sure to respond to you quickly. It will help us shape our future reporting. Look for some of the callouts for response we've been posting and get involved. Again, we need your voice.

After I asked for help in last week's newsletter finding the groups against a comprehensive hate crimes bill, I received a very detailed response from reader Mary Kohen with a list of groups who spoke out during the public comment portion of the Indiana Senate Public Policy Committee debate over Senate Bill 12. I was able to use this list to include statements from some of these groups in my subsequent reporting over the hate crimes issue here in Indiana. There's been some developments this week as an amendment adding a list of protected classes, without gender, was added to an unrelated bill, Senate Bill 198. Stay tuned as I continue following this and other issues at the Statehouse during the 2019 legislative session.

Tomorrow I'll be hosting an informal coffee with the editor event from 9 to 11 a.m. at Big Car Collaborative's Tube Factory artspace, 1125 Cruft St. Come by, hang out, and let me know what you want me to report on. I'm excited to start getting out in the community and hearing what's on your mind!

Next Wednesday, I'll be attending the Fair Housing Center of Central Indiana's 7th Annual Fair Housing Conference, "Fair Housing: The Bridge to Equitable Communities," at the Marriott East, as a part of my reporting on migration trends in Indianapolis. Speakers will include Joseph Galvan, Department of Housing and Urban Development Region V regional administrator, and Dr. George Lipsitz, author and professor of black studies and sociology at the University of California, Santa Barbara. In addition, there are 15 workshops, including the history and challenges of fair lending, fair housing disability case law, environmental justice in housing, national origin-based housing discrimination, fair housing challenges in rural communities, mapping prejudice, and more.

What questions would you like me to ask while I'm there? Let me know here.

That's all for this week. Have a great rest of your day!

Best,

Rob Burgess

House Adds Hate Crimes Amendment Without Gender

On Monday, March 25, Rep. Greg Steuerwald, R-Avon, added an amendment to an unrelated bill which added hate crimes protections to a victim or group's "real or perceived characteristic, trait, belief, practice, association, or other attribute the court chooses to consider." That list did not include gender, for which advocates of a

Burgess: Release the Full Mueller Report Now

This isn't partisan to me. This is about transparency. If the report says what Trump and his supporters say, then so be it. I'm not afraid of the truth. The American people have paid millions of dollars for this investigation. We deserve to read the full report directly from Mueller himself. Anything less will be viewed as a whitewash.
